Intro

Welcome to my new home state, Washington.

There is so much to explore here that this is only the 001 in a series.

Beautiful state, yes it rains here but not as much as I was lead to believe, and you can't get the green without the rain.

My first Fall in my 1st apartment in Kirkland.

A one bedroom on the first floor.

But, I moved to a two bedroom on the third floor in the same complex after a few years.

apartment complex

A bit crowded even in the two bedroom, and I still had a lot in storage.

JACKSON KOLLER

My first Christmas in Kirkland.

JACKSON KOLLER

Olympic Peninsula beach on the far West edge over Washington.

Had to ferry over from Seattle.

My second favorite area of Washington, includes the Olympic mountain range, Hoh rain forest, and Lake Ozette.

At the very western most tip of the peninsula is an Indian reservation with an exceptional native museum.

The Old Dome

It has since been demolished.

Hanging moss on the Peninsula.

JACKSON KOLLER

Typical of the Olympic Peninsula, very lush as it is a true rain forest.

This is on the Hoh Rain Forest trail.

Along Hwy 2, did not realize at the time that this would become a main road to our final home in Monroe.

Kirkland trail start

The trail Shantree and I walked daily.

Quiet, seldom used,
got a lot of thinking
and some writing done on it.

JACKSON KOLLER

Kirkland trail end

The loop back part of the trail.

Very pleasant walk,
easy trail and beautiful scenery.

There is an old rusted car in the bushes.

Orcas Island, one of the San Juans, and one of my favorite places.

Well, actually my favorite in Washington.

Have to take the ferry out of Anacortes to the North. The island is in the shape of the letter C, so it seems to take forever to get from one end to the other.

Mt. Constitution is at the far end, highest point in the sound, can see Canada and all of the sound from it.

Also, a 'hippy' campground at the far end, sites secluded, clothing optional hot springs fed tubs.

Lake Ozette on the Peninsula, my favorite campsite.

Beautiful lake to park next to.

There is a trail here down to the beach where they are excavating an old Indian village.

Olympic Peninsula field

The Seattle Science Center museums and the Space Needle.
